WILCOX & GIBBS
SEWING MACHINE.

We would call attention to the following facts in connection with this Machine, which renders it superior to any other in use:

It forms a flat elastic seam which will not rip in wear;

It is entirely noiseless;

A patented device prevents its being turned backward;

The needle cannot be set wrong;

Can be used successfully without other instructions than accompany the Machine;

It received the Gold Medal of the American Institute in 1863. For particulars, enquire of

THE DAILY MORNING, JANUARY [illegible]

Wilmington

Since the capture of Fort Fisher at the mouth of the Cape Fear river and the taking of [illegible] of Wilmington that place becomes an object of interest as a [illegible] the rebel [illegible]. Of late it has been the principal point [illegible] of the Confederacy [illegible] Wilmington [illegible] for their operations. The city is situated up the Cape Fear river thirty miles above Fort Fisher [illegible] that fort is effectually [illegible] the main against the contraband trade with [illegible] and will embarrass the rebel cause more by hindering its necessary receipt of supplies from abroad than would the capture of any other Southern port or the defeat of any principal army in the field.

Whether our government intends to follow up the success thus attained by an effort to carry the remaining fortifications on the river below Wilmington, and then attack that place, is uncertain. If the end aimed at is merely to stop the traffic carried on with blockade runners, that is already accomplished, as the fort commands the river and can prevent vessels from passing. Wilmington as the principal place of North Carolina has much importance in the present position of affairs, and the possession of it would no doubt much aid the Union sentiment of that State and facilitate its restoration to the Union. Let one State thus draw out of the conflict and the rebellion is dead.

Benj Silliman Sr.—The New Haven Palladium contains an extended notice of the life of Prof Silliman who deceased upon Thanksgiving Day. The name of Silliman is associated through out our country with the highest order of scientific attainment, and commanded great respect through out the world among men of science and learning. Born in the year 1779 he was one of the oldest living graduates of Yale having been connected with it for sixty five years during which time he probably did more than any other to secure for that institution the high academic standing it has attained. In 1818 he founded the American Journal of Science, more commonly known as Silliman's Journal, which has taken the first rank as a scientific work throughout the world and with which he was more or less identified throughout his life. Genial, hospitable and kindly of heart he went through the world attracting the regards of all, combining with the highest scientific research the finest capacity for domestic and social enjoyment. His death marks the exit of one of the finest minds and most patriotic souls of America, one who did honor to our national character, and served to make the name of America respected throughout the world. We remember him well when he seemed past the prime of life thirty years ago, and the Palladium was the first newspaper we ever read.

Petroleum in Nevada—A correspondent of the Sacramento Union, writing from Humboldt county, Nevada, claims that there is an extensive oil region in that section, that the oil obtained from the springs is of a superior quality and that there is every appearance that a large oil basin exists there, to rival in time the oil districts of Pennsylvania. The same writer goes on to show that the oil product of Pennsylvania amounted last year to the sum of $36,000,000, exceeding by four millions the amount realized from the iron mines. We can extend the comparison further by stating that if the above statement is correct, the oil wells of that State have nearly if not quite equalled in product the export of precious metals, annually made from this coast, while its production has been accompanied with much less expense and much more proportionate profit than has the gold and silver of our mines.

There has also been this advantage to the country at large from the oil trade that has thus sprung up. This oil is a cash article in the marts of the world, and therefore is fully equal in its effects in keeping coin at home to the product of gold from the Pacific coast. It also stimulates the carrying trade and commerce of the country by affording an article of freight as well as traffic. Under these circumstances, the discovery of petroleum on this coast of promise of immense value and importance to the Pacific; only second to the mineral deposits we now possess, and it might be well to stimulate prospecting for oil as such discovery will materially assist and develop the progress of the Pacific Railroad should oil districts be discovered on the line of that enterprise.

Major-General Terry—We believe this is the same General Terry who entered the service at the early stage of the war, as Colonel of one of the first Connecticut regiments. We have frequently seen his name in connection with military operations, but never before as commanding so important an expedition. The promptness with which Butler was removed after his failure and the speedy accomplishment of the work required when committed to another [illegible] not only for the judgement and efficiency of the Government but also for the officer under whose direction the capture of Fort Fisher was so speedily effected. General Terry was educated at West Point, was not in the army when [illegible] any length of time, but offered his services on the commencement of hostilities and has evidently not been the subject of many newspaper puffs or of the high flown efforts of army correspondents.

General Pleasanton [illegible] of Oct 25th in which he [illegible] Price is published. Gen Pleasanton states that he had between 5,000 and 6,000 men, and Price 25,000—that he beat the enemy and took 1,000 prisoners, including Marmaduke and Cabell, ten guns, and several thousand stand of arms [illegible] burned over 400 wagons [illegible] tion—and that [illegible] demoralized [illegible] ers made at the time [illegible] was two thousand.

Snow Man—[illegible] Point W T, of late January 12th acknowledges the receipt of the Weekly Oregonian of Dec 3d and 10th, on [illegible] that show we shall have to [illegible] punch them [illegible].

Vote of New York—The official [illegible] majorities in New York are [illegible] 6,766 for Union Governor [illegible] is about 730,000 or nearly 50,000 more than in 1860.

[illegible]

New [illegible] mall [illegible] etc.

[illegible] Death immediately ensued. Williams was arrested and taken to Walla Walla. We will not give this as authentic—there are conflicting rumors.

Interesting News from Kootenai—Mr. A. F. Rill [illegible] of the Kootenai [illegible] who arrived here last night direct from Kootenai—having left there on the 5th December—gives us the following interesting items from that quarter.

The reports in regard to the new diggings on the upper Columbia have been sufficiently confirmed to be generally believed in the mines, and all who could go have gone thither, taking with them from three to five months' provisions. The diggings are about 200 miles from the Wild Horse mines in a northwesterly direction [illegible] and much more extensive than the Kootenai mines. The gold is of the same character as that found in Wild Horse Creek.

Provisions were scarce and high at Fisherville. Flour was selling at $40 per hundred, and [illegible] with a prospect of going up to $150. Sugar and beans were the only articles that were plentiful. All kinds of clothing was very scarce. The restaurants and saloons in the town were all being closed up. There were only about 100 men remaining in the mines at Wild Horse Creek, the remainder having gone to the new mines or come below.

The packers on the road were losing all their animals. On the 15th George [illegible] was within 80 miles of the mines with his train. His animals were dying and it was doubtful whether he would get into the mines with any of them. Passed Mr. Newman 25 miles this side of Bonners Ferry. He had lost 38 out of 46 animals [illegible] himself and was living on mule meat straight. He butchered a mule the night Mr. R. overtook him.

Mr Linsey was at the Pen d'Oreille with his train and had lost nearly all his animals.

Charles Barclay was at Pend Oreille plains and was also losing his animals.

The snow is from two to five feet deep on the route, and it is doubtful whether the packer will get through with a single animal to the Spokane.

Mr. Riddles traveled three days without provisions before he reached Bonners Ferry; there he could only get a scanty supper, and was compelled to travel a day and night again without anything to eat, when he overtook Mr. Newman and obtained some mule meat of him. Between there and the Spokane he met Mr. [illegible] of the opposition ferry traveling out packing provisions on his back for the relief of travelers coming down. Several men have been badly frozen on the road. Mr. Johns and his two men at his ferry so badly frozen that they will probably die. Both are without means. The Hudson Bay expressman reported that five men had been frozen to death on the road.

Mr. Linklider, the Hudson Bay Co.'s Agent at Tobacco Plains says the winter commenced earlier this year and has been severer there than for the ten previous years.—Walla Walla Statesman.

We learn from the Walla Walla Statesman that the winter beyond the mountains has been much severer this season than last. In portions of the Grand Ronde Valley snow has fallen to a depth of from one to two feet. In Lower Boise River Valley it has been deeper and all along the line of the road to Boise the ground is covered with snow. In the Boise Basin it is from four to five feet deep. Unless the weather becomes milder very soon but few of the immigrant stock will survive the winter.

Mr. J. B. Rolton [illegible] one of the employees on the new stage road over the Blue Mountains was killed a week ago last Thursday by the falling of a tree upon him. It struck him on the head, breaking his neck and killing him instantly.

O. Ayne [illegible] a packer got into an altercation in Frenchtown, Walla Walla Valley, last week [illegible] which he got shot through the arm. The wound is not dangerous.

Agitation in Richmond—The Norfolk Old Dominion says that the discussion of the emancipation and negro-arming project is producing sharp divisions and very bitter feelings among the rebels. In Richmond there is much excitement on the subject. It says:

"Many quarrels have already privately arisen, and many more are likely to arise. The Spotts [illegible] the scene of a fight [illegible] first between a member from Georgia and one from Virginia, the latter maintaining that negroes should be armed, the former that they should not. The Georgian threatened a division of the Confederacy, and said he would be upheld by his constituents. Davis' opinion on the subject is not known. He vacillates between consent and dissent."

T. J. Myers—We are very sorry to believe that this gentleman whose loss on the mountains between Jordan Creek (Owyhee) and Reynolds Creek we mentioned a few days since is, as we feared, a friend that we became acquainted with on the mountains and [illegible] traits. Mr. Myers [illegible] in mid at Powder River in 1862 [illegible] and [illegible] his way to [illegible] where he [illegible] [illegible] a new [illegible] tains well and [illegible] would have expected [illegible] strangers [illegible]

THIRD YEAR OF [illegible]—Mr A Bush wiler, canvassing agent of the Portland Directory, compiled and published by [illegible] J McCormick has placed upon our table a copy of the work for the year commencing January 1865. It is the most creditable volume yet issued, printed and bound in [illegible] style, containing [illegible] together with the new [illegible] government, laws and regulations [illegible] Fire Department [illegible] companies and [illegible] to the progress [illegible] city. The [illegible] published in the present work is calculated to [illegible] a place in the community [illegible] the public which will secure it a [illegible] The Portland Directory [illegible] for the city [illegible] for the State hence forth. The present population of Portland as shown by a [illegible] is as follows:

Males 21 years of age and upward	[illegible]
Females do	[illegible]
Males under 21 years of age	[illegible]
Females do	[illegible]
Colored Males	[illegible]
Females	[illegible]
Chinese Males	[illegible]
Females	[illegible]
Floating [illegible] made from Registers [illegible] Hotels and Boarding Houses	[illegible]
Total	[illegible]

The foregoing figures exhibit an increase of upwards of one thousand inhabitants over the census of last year, and 1712 over that of 1863. The compiler safely estimates that the city will double its present size and population before the advent of 1870. The Commerce of 1864 [illegible] detail showing the value of our exports for the year, as recapitulated, [illegible]

For January	$ 4 [illegible] 00
February	3 [illegible] 909 00
March	3 [illegible] 843 00
April	417 [illegible]
May	434 [illegible] 58
June	899 [illegible]
July	[illegible] 18 80
August	1,018 [illegible] 48
September	499 [illegible] 00
October	1,07[illegible] 9 00
November	91[illegible] 40 00
December	[illegible] 00 00
Total exports for 1864	$8 6[illegible] 031 70

In remarks concerning the commerce for 1864 the compiler says: "The statistics are compiled from the returns published in the OREGONIAN that being the only source from which we can glean even the most distant idea of the extent of our commerce. But it must be borne in mind that the actual shipments of treasure by every departing steamer, exceed by several thousand dollars the amount reported. This will at once be apparent to every business man and arises from a multitude of causes, among which we may note the fact of very many miners and merchants conveying large amounts of gold dust and treasure not reported among the exports hence we lose the credit of such amounts in summing up the aggregate shipments for the year. Aside from this drawback, we are gratified at being able to show an export trade of upwards of $8,000,000 in produce and treasure during the last year and if the amount of gold which has left this port unacknowledged through the sources alluded to could have been properly estimated, our exports would easily have reached the sum of $1,000,000 a month—even with this disadvantage it will be observed that in two instances, (August and October), our exports amounted to more than $1,000,000, each month.

STAGE ROBBERY.—We learn by parties who arrived from the upper Columbia last evening of an event that transpired on the stage route from Walla Walla to Dalles, on the last trip. Mr Schwabacher, of the former place had entrusted $2,000 with passengers, named Kothkopt and Helser, to be delivered to Bloch, Miller & Co on arriving at the Dalles. The first or second night out, the parties reported themselves robbed of the money which had been so entrusted to them—upon reaching their destination, however, the firm had suspicion of foul play, and the two were arrested, and placed in custody of the Sheriff, to await examination.

ARRIVAL OF THE COUCH.—The steamer John H Couch, Captain VanBurgen arrived yesterday at 11 o'clock A M, from Astoria, which place she left on Tuesday morning at 7 o'clock in such a thick fog that they had to run under the "slow" bell for five hours, guided by lead and compass. In consequence of so much running ice in the Columbia river, the Couch lay at St Helens Tuesday night. She brings a number of passengers, 50 sacks of Oysters, and 5,000 feet of lumber.

FROM THE DALLES.—Messrs Cann and Edgar, messengers of Wells, Fargo & Co's Express arrived in this city last evening, from the Dalles coming on horseback from the Cascades. They bring with them about 300 pounds of treasure, besides letters and papers from Walla Walla and Lewiston. The river has not been closed between the Dalles and Cascades and the steamer Idaho has made regular trips every day. They report the river clear of ice so far as they could see from the Cascades down to Vancouver.

THE THEATRE BLOCK SUITS.—In the United States Circuit Court on Monday last, motions for new trial were submitted without argument in each of the cases for the recovery of the possession of real property in the Theatre Block, and disallowed. By consent of parties execution of the judgment was stayed ten days from the date of entry, to enable bills of exception to be settled and sealed preparatory to taking the cases to the Supreme Court of the United States on error.

OWYHEE vs WASHOE.—A gentleman of this city has lately received a letter from Washoe, giving the result of an assay at the Ophir Works in Virginia City, of a portion of the Home Ticket Owyhee silver quartz rock. The result showed an amount of $2,000 per ton, which quite startled the Washoites.

SCHOOL EXERCISES.—The term of the Portland Academy and Female Seminary which terminates with this week is being made the occasion for very interesting exercises by the students who were in rehearsal at the M E Church last evening, preparing for the examinations today and to morrow.

COMMERCIAL COLLEGE.—We refer our readers especially the young men of the city who desire to acquire a commercial course of study to the card of Mr Patt[illegible] on College [illegible] rooms, just opened in Parrish's new building.

THE TRINITY CHURCH FESTIVAL.—We were unable to attend Turn Verein Hall last evening and witness the tableaux, charades, etc, but we are assured by parties who were present that the evening passed off pleasantly, the representations excellent, and a handsome sum netted in aid of the proposed fund.

THE BELL RINGERS.—Another large audience assembled at Willamette Theatre last evening to witness the performances of the Bell Ringers. It cannot be said but what their entertainments are a great success. The best ever in Oregon and would continue to draw for many more nights than they are [illegible] in the city.

NOT GONE YET.—The steamer which arrived at this city yesterday morning from Astoria reports the steamship Pacific lying at anchor there on Tuesday morning, unable to proceed to sea in consequence of the prevailing bad weather.

TAXES.—There was quite a rush at the Sheriff's Office yesterday, of persons who wished to avoid penalties for the nonpayment of taxes. [illegible] the last chance [illegible] property owners to save themselves from delinquency.

OUR DRAINS.—We are informed that negotiations are pending with [illegible] for the manufacture of [illegible] machine [illegible] home industry [illegible] the motto of our Council.

NAVIGATION.—The steamer Wilson G Hunt will resume her regular trips to the Cascades this morning. The Fannie Troup resumed business yesterday.

CHEAP LUNCH.—Upon the floor of the north [illegible] of the establishment of A D [illegible] will be found an elegant assortment of Philadelphia heavy grain leather [illegible] suitable for the season, at three dollars per pair, for [illegible] days only.

Multnomah County Free School

The work [illegible] department we [illegible] mit, is not easy. It is [illegible] each mind and [illegible] each one. It requires [illegible] It is man is some expe[illegible] observation [illegible] son in the community [illegible] teach [illegible] wrong step [illegible] trees.

[illegible] to [illegible] all the [illegible] ones demand [illegible] to train them [illegible] so varied, that [illegible] avoided. Much [illegible] out every child in something, [illegible] ing, writing the s[ou]nds of the letters, [illegible] singing, making figures, drawing, sewing, crocheting, knitting, anything that the child can do. One thing will help another [illegible] the teacher [illegible] awaken [illegible] power [illegible] every one [illegible]

We know that the advancement of scholars is checked for want of thorough study in the primary department. [illegible] higher studies who have not mastered the lower ones, and hence they always are superficial [illegible] The chief defects in the start. The child has not had the care which his mind demands and he suffers. No sure remedy exists in the upper departments. It must be found in the primary school. But it cannot be found here, if this is left to [illegible] development. If [illegible] teachers [illegible] rectors how the little ones get along, then the annual loss of mental training will fall upon a large per cent of pupils. But if we take good care of the primary department the others will succeed with comparatively little difficulty.

This leads to the final remark, that the best rooms—as to size and [illegible] and comfort—the best play grounds and the best teachers should be provided for the primary departments of our schools.

It is not right to crowd a room with little children, and expect any teacher to take care of them and train every one [illegible] fully. There must be room enough for all the classes and for all the changes and movements which a primary Department requires. There must be classes enough to meet the advancement of the pupils, and time enough [illegible] to learn the condition of every child's mind and to afford every one help.

Hence the labor of the primary departments ought to be well divided among two or three teachers.

The tendency is to impose too much upon those who conduct this department. In large schools like the public school in this city, the tendency is to lay too heavy burdens upon those who teach the little ones. This occurs just now incidentally on account of the rapid increase in the number of pupils, and measures are believed to be in progress to increase the number of school houses in the city. But in all our schools there are liable to be the greatest defects in the instruction of small children, and too low an estimation of their wants in the selection of teachers.

Supt. Common Schools
